Rain & Hot Temperatures

The rain this week may have inconvenienced you. But, for our growers, this was a good week! The crops needed some rain. "It's been so hot and dry, so we're very thankful for the rain this week," according to Claire Luff (Finn Meadows).

The 90 degree temperatures are mostly a good thing, too. The corn is tall and almost ready, if the raccoons will leave it alone. The early tomatoes are getting ripe. The blueberries and peaches are early. But, some of the spring crops are feeling the heat and making their exit.

That means for this week, you can expect to see the first blueberries, peaches, and black raspberries. But, the "first" can also mean "just a little," so shop early. And, there still may be some cherries. (The cherry season is very short.)

You will also find early carrots and green beans, big tomatoes (red and yellow), cucumbers, cherry tomatoes, summer squash, fennel bulbs, and maybe the first cabbage. Also, broccoli and cauliflower, garlic scapes, spring greens, head lettuce, kale and spinach.

It's not too late to plant peppers and basil. Peppers and chiles love it hot. They're at the Market this week, too.

If you missed last week, Kate and Michelle, from Crackling Crust, brought beautiful loaves of sourdough bread, croissants and danish, and sold out by 10:30. They promise to bring even more this week.

PS: Pine Lane Soaps will hold a Farm Visit Day this Saturday, from 2-5pm, after the Market. Everyone is welcome to visit the farm, see the cows and chickens, and pet the young goats. It's free. The farm is located at 5057 State Rt. 133, in Batavia.

Make Father's Day Dinner from the Market

With this week's wide variety of produce, it won't be hard to assemble your Father's Day dinner from the vendors at MFM. Besides the fresh veggies and fruit, you can find chicken, pork and beef at the Market for Dad's special dish. Pick up some hummus and salsa, a special sauce, and a baguette to go with dinner. And then choose a pie, some French pastries, or an Italian fruit crostata for dessert.

To all the dads, happy Father's Day!

Mt. Kofinas Olive Oil--the Montgomery connection

You have been buying Mt. Kofinas olive oil at MFM for four years. But, do you know the whole story?

Evie Semertzides' family has been growing and harvesting olives for generations, in the village of Stavies, in the shadow of Mt. Kofinas, in Greece. After she married, Evie and John moved to the United States, and now live in Cincinnati.

Every time the family would visit back in Greece, they would carry large tins of the family's oil through Customs on the way back to Cincinnati. Over the years, they decided to import the family's oil, so other people could enjoy using it.

Now, they have a small storefront in Montgomery, in the Marketplace shopping center (across from Kroger). And, they sell at some farmers' markets around Cincinnati. The other Montgomery connection? Their oldest son, Nick, attended Montgomery Elementary School, where MFM is located!

When we say "Eat Local," this is it!

Kids: Come hunt for peas!

Here's how it works. Each week, we hide the three peas in booths around the Market. When your child has found all three peas, visit the Market Manager's booth, report where you found them, and she will reward your child with a Farmers Buck to spend at the Market! (Make sure the peas stay hidden for other kids to find!)

Friendly reminder: The Montgomery Farmers' Market Board reminds our dog-loving friends of their responsibility to keep dogs on a leash and maintain control of them at all times while visiting the Market. More than anything, we want to be sure that all of our visitors (2- and 4-legged!) and vendors have a safe and enjoyable time at the Market. We appreciate your cooperation and support.
